It's is just this simple, Leave the license classes and the code requirement ALONE! we already have a no code entry level license "technican" If people are not starting there, then that is where we would need to find more people. Morse code forever!